RAJAGIRI COLLEGE OF SOCIAL SCIENCES (Autonomous)

Rajagiri College of Social Sciences (Autonomous), (RCSS) is the eldest child of Vidyapeetham. It is located on two picturesque campuses- the Hill Campus at Kalamassery and the Valley campus at Kakkanad in Kochi, in Kerala. RAJAGIRI literally means "The hill of the King" and derivatively it refers to the hillock, where Jesus Christ is accepted as the King or the Model, as the human embodiment of the virtues of love, truth and justice.

RCSS is the fruit of the vision that propelled CMIs of the Sacred Heart Province, Kochi, to establish a center of excellence in the field of higher education and a standard bearer of holistic learning in India, which would provide training for future leaders in the fields of both social and industrial development. Accordingly a policy for grievance redressal of students, faculty members and employees in a just and fair manner had been outlined in 2014. The Action Taken Report is further presented before the appropriate aggrieved student or students/ batch.

Level 2- Grievance Redressal Portal

There is a grievance redressal portal in the College website for the students. They can use the portal for recording their grievances. 1. ATTENDANCE

Rajagiri College of Social Sciences (Autonomous) considers student attendance an essential component of a student's performance in a course. It is mandatory for all the students to maintain 100% attendance in class sessions. Absence from classroom sessions and from other academic activities will be regarded as an act of willful indiscipline. No leave will be granted for absence beyond 25% in ordinary circumstances.

Guidelines:

- Attendance is marked for each session engaged by the faculty member. This means that irrespective of the number of hours engaged, attendance will be taken only once for each continuous session.
- In the case of two hour classes if the student is late for the first hour, he/she will be permitted to attend the first hour without attendance and attendance will be awarded only for the second hour onwards.
- A student is not permitted to leave an on-going class, unless a note is sent from the Principal.
- For the internal assessment process, attendance will be calculated on hourly basis unless otherwise instructed by the faculty member.
- In case the faculty member engages more than 60 hours, the first 60 hours only shall be accounted for marks/percentage of attendance.
- Students will not be allowed to enter the classroom after a faculty member has entered. There is no possibility of late coming.
- Students are not allowed to spend time with any other faculty member during normal class hours unless prior explicit permission has been obtained from the faculty member who is engaging the session at that time. The responsibility is vested with the student and excuses for being late will not be entertained.
- Any planned mass absences of a group/ class/ batch of students will result in serious consequences. Those who lead/ participate in such activities, be it from a scheduled class or training activity or an institutional function, will incur serious action.
- A student must intimate the College office in the case of any serious illness or hospitalisation as soon as possible from the date of diagnosis or hospitalisation.
- A student must submit a medical certificate and a letter from the parent/ guardian to the college office, if his/her absence on account of ill health exceeds five consecutive working days.
- This certificate and letter should be submitted by the student within two days of reporting back to the college after the absence.
- However, this certificate will not be considered for marks of attendance or any other consideration from the part of the college.
- This will render the students eligible to apply for condonation when they have shortage of attendance, ie. Attendance below 75%.

• No student shall be allowed to produce a predated medical certificate other than the ones already submitted in the College office for availing condonation.

[This certificate may be collected by the student from the college office in the case of applying for condonation]

The respective internal mark for attendance will be distributed proportionately between 75% and 100% attendance.

The method of calculation of marks for students who have secured more than 75% attendance is as follows:

- Step 1 Calculate the percentage of presence for each student (no. of hours present \div no. of hours taken) x 100
- Step 2 Subtract 75 from the value obtained in Step 1 (as 75 % is the minimum requirement)
- Step 3 Divide the value obtained in Step 2 by 25. Subsequently multiply this value with the total marks assigned for attendance.

The value obtained after Step 3 gives the proportionate mark for attendance of each student. If a student's attendance is less than or equal to 75%, the mark shall be zero.

*A student who has attendance shortage may enquire with the Examination office regarding rules and procedure for condonation.

The faculty members may also mention the same in their respective course schedules.
- The attendance of the student will be counted as part of the attendance marks as the test would be considered as a session engaged by the faculty member. (see also attendance rules for re-test)

Special Compensatory CAE:

- Special Compensatory CAE will be conducted for students who are unable to write CAE 1 in full or any part thereof. This opportunity is available only once in an academic year during the regular course of study and not applicable for CAE 2 of any semester. Discipline:

- There are three breaks given to students on a typical working day. Students may visit the cafeteria/canteen or go outside the College building during these times. They are advised to keep noise levels very low if they stay within the building during these times. This is to ensure minimum disturbance to the office staff and faculty members.
- The premises of the College has been declared English Zone, which means that all verbal interactions of students taking place here must be in English. This is not in any way to demean the vernacular, but a conscious and concerted attempt to improve the communication skills of students in English.

- Students must take prior appointment to meet faculty members.
- No student is allowed to enter the rooms of the faculty members when they are not present unless written permission has been given by the respective faculty member.
- Faculty members close the classroom door as soon as they enter for their session. Late-comers will not be allowed into the classrooms till the session is over.
- Faculty members may give mid-session breaks if their sessions are of longer duration. Students are not supposed to go outside their classrooms during this time.
- The breaks between sessions are meant for change of faculty. Students are not to move outside their classrooms during this time.
- Birthday celebrations and felicitations on special occasions are not permitted in the classrooms. Students may make use of their breaks and celebrate such occasions outside the College building.
- Food or drink is not to be consumed in the classroom, library, offices, auditorium, conference halls or any areas being used for instruction unless authorized by the faculty member in charge.

7. Netiquettes

Start into online sessions with a mind-set of cautious learning. Learn how to be on your best behavior in an online classroom with the following netiquette guidelines every online student needs to know.

General Etiquette

You are expected to attend all the online sessions scheduled by the respective teachers. If you are absent from the online class, you need to inform your Batch Faculty Coordinator as well as the teacher handling the session for the day. It is the duty of the student to inform them duly and no student shall take leave without informing the teachers.

Be on time- Punctuality is especially important for online Classes. Check your email regularly for details on the online session schedules.

Choose a good location- a clean and non-distracting background. If possible, set up a desk with materials ready and a neutral background. Use a small, quiet, preferably carpeted room. Large rooms and rooms with tile or hardwood floors can produce an echo. Turn off loud AC units or desk fans. Try to provide a clean, distraction-free background. Make sure you're comfortable with others seeing what is in your background. If you are using a laptop, make sure it is placed on a solid surface.

Lighting in the room - The light has to come against you, so use a soft light source placed in front of you. Avoid back and side lighting. (Windows/lights behind you can make it hard to see your face).

Wear proper attire - Make sure you are looking presentable and professional for each other. It is our expectation that students dress in a way that is modest, clean, and avoid any unnecessary distraction.

Be ready to take notes - While teachers may have different instructions in different subjects and scenarios, online meetings aim to condense the time that everyone is present together. So in many cases it will be beneficial for the students to be able to jot down a note on the instructions the teacher is giving or important information he or she is sharing with you.

Give your full, focused attention - Keep away from using another device or engage with someone or something else in your surroundings. Giving eye contact to the screen is a good way to show your instructor that you are attending, unless of course you are taking notes.

Be seated in a room, where you will be able to attend the class without any disturbances

Don't dominate the discussion - The students should adopt some strategy to make sure they are giving others a chance to discuss.

Sarcasm has been the source of plenty of misguided arguments online. As a rule of thumb, it's best to avoid sarcasm altogether in an online classroom. Be more careful with your words.

A certain level of formality is still expected in your communication with the Teachers. In addition to proper punctuation and spelling, it's good netiquette to use respectful greetings and signatures, full sentences etc,.

Be kind and professional. "Good netiquette means conducting yourself in an online class with the same respect, politeness and professionalism that you would exhibit in a real-life classroom."

Think before you type - A good rule of thumb to follow is if you're comfortable standing up in front of a classroom and saying your message, then it's most likely okay to share.

Keep up with all assignments – Teachers often establish ground rules for file assignment submissions, like naming the files that help them keep things organized or acceptable file formats.

Comply with other instructions provided by the teachers from time to time

Tech specific etiquette

- Test your microphone and camera before the meeting begins. Technical issues are to be expected, but this will allow everyone to get underway sooner.
- Mute your microphone while the classes are going on and the camera must be on throughout the session. (The College has provided all the Students 'Data Scholarship' so that the students do not run out of the required data for the Day)

- Consider your actions on camera. Exaggerated yawning, stretching, or eating are not only distracting, but can come off as rude to the speaker and audience.
- Use a headset if possible. Test your mic before your meeting. Stay close to the mic, but don't lean in to it.
- If you experience issues with video connection, try rebooting your computer. Students having less bandwidth and internet may switch off the video under intimation to the concerned teacher.
- Encourage use of chat to give feedback/ask questions during presentations. post one word (or a short phrase or question) in chat to summarize what you got from the presentation (or ask follow-up questions)
- Don't abuse the chat box. The class chat box isn't an instant messenger like you'd use with friends. Be aware of strong language, all caps, and exclamation points. Read everything out loud before you send it. Written communication should be professional and reflect proper writing style.
- Use voting (yes/no, polls, reactions) about effectiveness of presentation or some other metric of success.
