CAREER COUNSELLING

Career counselling is an important component for placement preparations especially for the PG students in Rajagiri. The career counselling sessions are conducted mainly by the external experts which will have their placement orientations and training of the soft skills. These orientations are done with the objective to help students to identify their strengths and career choices. Exercises, role plays, GD sessions, interview preparation etc are done along with orientations in preparing CVs and resumes. MPOWER training, DLITE training, regular career counselling workshops, skill training on Social Entrepreneurship are regular programmes conducted by the various departments for making students to be employable.

Placement preparation Process in Rajagiri:

1. Placement Pooling

The prospective agencies are pooled into a data base by the placement committee selected for each year which contains student representatives under the guidance of placement cell. The placement brochure is also prepared which contains the details of the candidates

2. Pre placement preparations

The candidates are given pre placement preparatory sessions by eminent resource persons on communication skill, CV Preparation, GD and interview specific skills, self-grooming, subject specific inputs etc

3. Application process

Applications are invited from the students regarding their interests in the sectors as well as settings along with their specific experiences. The detailed CV is collected from the students or they can express third interest on specific placements to placement cell

4. Job offer announcements

The job details/opportunities with details (including the campus interviews) will be publicized to the prospective candidates so that they may apply directly with the concurrence as well as attend the campus interview process.

5. Confirmations

The placement cell will be the link between the employers well as the candidates to facilitate the process which aid in placement of the selected candidates

6. Follow ups

The placement cell also collect the feedback from the employers and document the timely suggestions received so that the suggestions are incorporated in curriculum design and delivery. The placement cell also get in contact with the candidates who need further placement support in their career.
